What people are saying about i.on my and ThoughtWare

Learning how to set reminders for policy upgrades, compile surveys and get all my evidence for accreditation under control - i.on my centre has made life at my centre a lot easier.

"One of the hardest tasks of my job is keeping track of the endless paper work and routines not to mention everything I need to do for accreditation. It was a welcome surprise when I first saw i.on my centre. This program was the solution I was looking for.

After using the system and learning how to set reminders for policy upgrades, compile surveys and get all my evidence for accreditation under control I have found I now have lots more time on my hands to do the things that matter, not to mention being able to keep track of employee qualifications and personal details.

The other major benefit for me is that there are no lock in contracts, if the system is not working for my centre I can simply opt out. But I don't think that will be happening!

i.on my centre has made life at my centre a lot easier."

"My special thanks to all at ThoughtWare for a fabulously smooth Go Live!!!!!! Champions all!!!!!!"

Lydia Plim, Project Manager for i.on my school installation at a leading private school.

"I think i.on my is a great product, they have really found a niche and they have done their research."

ThoughtWare's flexibility catered for various changes ... that would lead to a better overall outcome.

"ThoughtWare assisted us with the implementation of our Human Resource Information System (HRIS) in three key areas - planning, prioritising and practical implementation. They worked with us to plan our system structure, and our overall implementation - every task was identified and prioritised to ensure that it worked with our business priorities and other work activities. Regular reports on progress were discussed with future tasks identified for action.

All the planning and prioritising was turned into action during the practical implementation so that our goals were achieved. ThoughtWare's flexibility catered for various changes to our HRIS platform and the Firm's information system and they had the initiative to suggest different approaches that would lead to a better overall outcome."

I could see how I could keep track of employee qualifications and upgrade requirements, store policies and set reminders for policy upgrades, track evidence for accreditation, compile survey results that will be invaluable to the centre and a lot more.

"Having been in the child care industry for the past twelve years and Director for eleven of those, the greatest difficulty of my job is keeping track of the paper work that seems to multiply each year.

I believe that i.on my centre provides the solution. From the demonstration I could see how I could keep track of employee qualifications and upgrade requirements, store policies and set reminders for policy upgrades, track evidence for accreditation, compile survey results that will be invaluable to the centre and a lot more.

It also has the added bonus that the staff and myself can have access to the system at any time from our home computers. We're new to the system but already seeing the benefits of using it."

Nicole - Director, Albert Waterways Children's Centre.

ThoughtWare staff were extremely thorough and helpful.

"I used ThoughtWare to set up the implementation of a major Human Resource System and found them to be very professional in their approach.

Their staff were extremely thorough and helpful. The exercise involved training and ThoughtWare's approach allowed for maximum knowledge transfer. I would not hesitate to recommend ThoughtWare for a similar project."

"i.on my is not a generalised program, it's been developed for specific industries, and that's why research was so important."

Hilary Knights – Marketing Angels

"A quality niche product that has been embraced by all who have seen it."
